ELEMENTARY ENGLISH

John J. DeBoer, Editor

Volume XXXIV

January-December 1957

Subscription Rate—$4.00 for one year of eight issues
Copyright, 1957, by The National Council of Teachers of English. Published at Champaign, Illinois, and Seymour, Indiana

INDEX

Volume XXXIV

Abraham, Willard—The Bi-lingual Child and His Teacher, 474.
Allen, Harold B.—NCTE Counciletter, 180.
Am I Teaching Phonics Right?—E. W. Dolch, 227.
Americamera—Louise Hovde Mortensen, 542.
Analysis of Children's Compositions Written in Response to a Film, An—Paul Witty and William Martin, 158.
Anderson, Marian—Language Arts Research, 1956, 245.
Arbuthnot, May Hill—Books for Children, 53, 126, 416, 496, 575.
Artley, A. Sterl—Progress Report on Champaign Reading Study 1952-55, 102.
At the North End of Pooh—Ethel Newell, 22.

Barbe, Walter B.—State Department Curriculum Guides in Reading, 546.
Baker, Elmer E., Jr.—Ten Ways for the Classroom Teacher to Aid the Speech Correctionist, 479.
Betts, Emmett A.—How a Retarded Reader Feels, 13.
Bi-lingual Child and His Teacher, The—Willard Abraham, 474.
Birthday Unit: Lincoln and Washington—Garnett Kooker, 30.
Blumenthal, Rochelle—The Language Development of an Exceptionally Gifted Pupil, 214.
Bolling, Rex W.—So-You've Got a Problem!, 92.
Books for Children—May Hill Arbuthnot, Margaret Mary Clark, and Harriet G. Long, 53, 126, 192, 273, 342, 416, 496, 575.
Boyd, Gertrude A.—Role-Playing Reveals Language Levels, 388.
Brookins, Vera—The Kindergarten Publishes A Newspaper, 39.
Busbee, Vivian—Dramatic Interpretation in the Elementary School, 394.

Cappa, Dan—Sources of Appeal in Kindergarten Books, 259.
Carpenter, Audrey F.—More than Plot, 383.
Carr, Constance—Folk Tale Collections, 283.
Carson, Louise G.—Moving Toward Individualization—A Second Grade Program, 362.
Children and the Experts Agree, The—Elliott D. Landau, 561.
Children, Reading, and Creativity—Ruth G. Strickland, 234.
Clark, Mary Margaret—Books for Children, 53, 126, 192, 273, 342, 416, 496, 575.
Counciletter—Max J. Herzberg, 44.
Counciletter—Helen K. Mackintosh, 485.
Creative Expression in the Halloran School—Irene M. Grubnick, 149.
Creative Writing and Story Telling for Today's Schools—Paul Witty, 138.

Daniel, Walter C.—Science Gives Material for Language Arts, 544.
Dear Mr. Chairman:—Carrie Stegall, 218.
Developing A Word List for Remedial Reading, Edward Fry, 456.
Developing Independent Readers—Margaret Kirby, 302.
Dolch, E. W.—Am I Teaching Phonics Right?, 227.
Dovey, Irma—Teachers Are Nice, But—, 552.
Dramatic Interpretation in the Elementary School—Vivian Busbee, 394.

Edmund, Neal R.—Story Writing in the Seventh Grade, 305.
Educational Scene, The—William A. Jenkins, 50, 118, 187, 263, 333, 488, 570.
Elementary Hobby Show—Russell F. Schleicher, 95.
Elementary School Newspaper—Pupil Product or Propaganda Piece—Irwin J. Suloway, 176.
Elementary Schools Set Their Goals for Language Arts—Helen K. Mackintosh, 367.
Enjoying Festivals with Katherine Milhous—Elaine Templin, 435.
Everhart, Rodney W.—Why Not Teach Children Semantics?, 548.

Fagerlie, Anna M.—Finger Plays, 557.
Felton, Wilma—The Values of Workbooks in a First Grade Reading Program, 377.
Fenner, Phyllis—Why Tell Stories?, 155.
Filbin, Robert—Prescription for the Johnny Who Can't Read, 559.
Finger Plays—Anna M. Fagerlie, 557.
First Graders Can Do Research Too—Catherine Orr and Hazel Schrobenhauser, 19.

Flanagan, Frances—A Tribute to Laura Ingalls Wilder, 203.
Flash Cards in Home Economics—Louise H. Mortensen, 18.
Folk Tale Collections—Constance Carr, 283.
Fry, Edward—Developing A Word List for Remedial Reading, 456.
Furness, Edna L.—Improving Reading Through Listening, 307.

Gabel, Theresa—Helping Children to Express Orally, 459.
Good Literature for Children—L. H. Maddock, 298.
Grogan, Agnes Clare—Our American Folklore —A Story Project, 75.
Grubnick, Irene M.—Creative Expression in the Halloran School, 149.
Gustafson, T. F.—Studies of TV—An Eighth Yearly Report, 536.

Harris, Brice—NCTE Counciletter, 180.
Hazard, Patrick D.—Windows on the World, 45, 114, 183, 260, 331.
Heart of the Language Arts Program, The—Don M. Wolfe, 450.
Helffrich, Stockton—Juvenile Kibitzers in the Television Age, 520.
Helping Children to Express Orally—Theresa Gabel, 459.
Herzberg, Max J.—Counciletter, 44.
Hildreth, Gertrude—Some Misconceptions Concerning Phonics, 26.
Homeland—Keehashtinigi—Ethel Newell, 89.
Hopkins, Celia M.—Spelling and the Language Arts, 98.
How a Retarded Reader Feels—Emmett A. Betts, 13.
How a TV Program Can Be Used as a Springboard to Further Reading—Helen Huss, 81.
Hurley, Marie V.—TV, Johnny, and Reading, 524.
Huss, Helen—How a TV Program Can Be Used as a Springboard to Further Reading, 81.
Improving Reading through Listening—Edna L. Furness, 307.
In-Service Approach to Reading—Stanley Stahl, Jr., 312.
Interest as a Dynamic Force in the Improvement of Reading—Ruth Strang, 170.
IRA Advance Program of 1957 Conference, 268.
Interrelationships Among Langauge Variables in Children of the First and Second Grades —Clotilda Winter, 108.
Is English a Phonetic Language?—Thurston Womack, 386.

Jacobs, Leland B.—Story Telling, The Captor, 152.
Jenkins, William A.—The Educational Scene, 50, 118, 187, 263, 333, 488, 568.
Jones, Dorothy R.—Reading and Television, 534.
Jonny's Adventures in Literature—Ruth W. Mark, 467.
Juvenile Kibitzers in the Television Age—Stockton Helffrich, 520.

Kaplan, Robert—Reading Readiness Tests as Predictions, 320.
Kindergarten Publishes a Newspaper, The—Vera Brookins, 39.
Kirby, Margaret—Developing Independent Readers, 302.
Kolbe, Nadine A.—Witches Can Be Fun, 377.
Kooker, Garnett—A Birthday Unit: Lincoln and Washington, 30.
Kovas, Helen B.—The Place of Oral Reading, 462.
Krolik, Richard—The NEA and TV, 529.

Lachman, Florence—Writing A Group Poem, 258.
Language Arts in an Integrated Curriculum—John Maxwell, 371.
Language Arts Research, 1956—Ralph Staiger and Marian Anderson, 245.
Language Development of an Exceptionally Gifted Pupil—Paul Witty and Rochelle Blumenthal, 214.
Landau, Elliott D.—Children and the Experts Agree, The, 561.
Let 'em Read Trash—Robert G. Mood, 444.
Long, Harriet—Books for Children, 192, 273, 342.
Ludwig Bemelmans and His Books for Children —Shelton L. Root, Jr., 3.

Mackintosh, Helen K.—Counciletter, 485.
Mackintosh, Helen K.—Elementary Schools Set Their Goals for Language Arts, 367.
Maddock, L. H.—Good Literature for Children, 298.
Mark, Ruth W.—Jonny's Adventures in Literature, 467.
Marshall, Gertrude W.—On Our Own in Spelling, 543.
Martin, William—An Analysis of Children's Compositions, 158.
Martin, William—Some Stories Should Be Memorized, 167.

Maxwell, John—Language Arts in an Integrated Curriculum, 371.
Miller, Helen Rand—Top Flight and Pedestrian Readers, 72.
Milne's Poems: Form and Content—Barbara Novak, 371.
Modification of the Informal Reading Inventory, A—Lester R. Wheeler and Edwin H. Smith, 224.
Mood, Robert G.—Let 'em Read Trash, 444.
Moore, Walter J.—Pioneers in Reading, I: William Scott Gray, 326.
More Than Plot—Audrey F. Carpenter, 383.
Mortensen, Louise H.—Americamera, 542.
Mortensen, Louise H.—Tales of Our Grandmothers, 117.
Moving Toward Individualization—A Second Grade Program—Louise G. Carson, 362.
Murray, C. Merrill—Selecting a School Dictionary, 293.

National Council of Teachers of English, 49, 180, 254, 328, 402, 485.
NEA and TV, The—Richard Krolik, 529.
New Approaches to Research in the Language Arts—George Spache, 374.
Newell, Ethel—At the North End of Pooh, 22.
Newell, Ethel, Homeland—Keehashtinigi, 89.
Novak, Barbara—Milne's Poems: Form and Content, 371.
Nulton, Lucy—From Manuscript to Cursive—How, 553.

On Our Own in Spelling—Gertrude W. Marshall, 543.
Orr, Catherine—First Graders Can Do Research Too, 19.
Our American Folklore—A Story Project—Agnes Clare Grogan, 75.
Our Puppets Learn to Talk—Richard P. Sawyer, 33.

Parke, Margaret B.—When Children Write About Their Problems, 35.
Pioneers in Reading, I: William Scott Gray—Walter J. Moore, 326.
Pioneers in Reading, II: Arthur Irving Gates—David H. Russell, 397.
Pioneers in Reading, III: Paul Witty—Samuel Weingarten, 481.
Place of Oral Reading, The—Helen Kovas, 462.
Play Ball—Shirley B. Wright, 301.
Poetry Calendars—Louise Hovde Mortensen, 262.
Preparing the Columbus of 1992—John Sternic, 517.
Prescription for the Johnny Who Can't Read—Robert Filbin, 559.
Progress in Reading: A Special Review—David H. Russell, 242.
Progress Report on Champaign Reading Study 1952-55—A. Sterl Artley and Elizabeth Squires, 102.

Reading and Television—Dorothy R. Jones, 534.
Reading Readiness Tests as Predictors—Robert Karlin, 320.
Reinhardt, Lorraine—Rewards of Creative Writing, 145.
Rewards of Creative Writing—Lorraine Reinhardt, 145.
Roeder, Mary S.—The Talking Mailbox, 303.
Role-Playing Reveals Language Levels—Gertrude A. Boyd and Myrtle R. Youssi, 388.
Rollins, Charlemae—Story Telling—Its Value and Importance, 164.
Root, Shelton, L., Jr.—Ludwig Bemelmans and His Books for Children, 3.
Russell, David H.—Pioneers in Reading, II: Arthur Irving Gates, 397.
Russell, David H.—Progess in Reading: A Special Review, 242.

Sawyer, Richard P.—Our Puppets Learn to Talk, 33.
Schleicher, Russell F.—Elementary Hobby Show, 95.
Schrobenhauser, Hazel—First Graders Can Do Research Too, 19.
Schubert, Delwyn G.—Visual Immaturity and Reading Difficulty, 323.
Science Gives Material for Language Arts—Walter C. Daniel, 544.
Scott, W. R.—Some Notes on Communication in Picture-Books, 67.
Selecting A School Dictionary—C. Merrill Murray, 392.
Self-expression—Don M. Wolfe, 450.
Smith, Edwin H.—A Modification of the Informal Reading Inventory, 224.
So—You've Got a Problem!—Rex W. Bolling, 92.
Some Misconceptions Concerning Phonics—Gertrude Hildreth, 26.
Some Notes on Communication in Picture Books—W. R. Scott, 67.
Some Stories Should Be Memorized—William Martin, 167.
Some Values of Creative Writing—Paul Witty, 139.

Sources of Appeal in Kindergarten Books—Dan Cappa, 259.
Spache, George—New Approaches to Research in the Language Arts, 374.
Spelling and the Language Arts—Celia M. Hopkins, 98.
Squires, Elizabeth B.—Progress Report on the Champaign Reading Study, 1952-55, 102.
Stahl, Stanley, Jr.—In-Service Approach to Reading, 312.
Staiger, Ralph—Language Arts Research, 1956, 245.
State Department Curriculum Guides in Reading—Walter B. Barbe, 546.
Stegall, Carrie—Convention Impression on Texans, 328.
Stegall, Carrie—Dear Mr. Chairman:, 218.
Sternig, John—Preparing the Columbus of 1992, 517.
Story Telling—Its Value and Importance—Charlemae Rollins, 164.
Story Telling, The Captor—Leland B. Jacobs, 152.
Story Writing in the Seventh Grade—Neal R. Edmund, 305.
Strang, Ruth—Interest as a Dynamic Force in the Improvement of Reading, 170.
Strickland, Ruth G.—Children, Reading, and Creativity, 234.
Studies of TV—An Eighth Yearly Report—Paul Witty and T. F. Gustafson, 536.
Suloway, Irwin J.—The Elementary School Newspaper—Pupil Product or Propaganda Piece, 176.

Talking Mailbox, The—Mary S. Roeder, 303.
Teachers Are Nice, But—Irma Dovey, 552.
Templin, Elaine—Enjoying Festivals with Katherine Milhous, 435.
Ten Ways for the Classroom Teacher to Aid the Speech Correctionist—Elmer E. Baker, Jr., 479.
To Teacher, with Love—Inez M. Ware, 221.
Top Flight and Pedestrian Readers—Helen Rand Miller, 72.
Tribute to Laura Ingalls Wilder, A—Frances Flanagan, 203.
TV, Johnny, and Reading—Marie V. Hurley, 524.
Values of Workbooks in a First Grade Reading Program, The—Wilma Felton, 377.
Vinton, Iris—Windows on the World, 399, 564.
Visual Immaturity and Reading Difficulty—D. G. Schubert, 323.

Ware, Inez M.—To Teacher, with Love, 221.
Weingarten, Sam—Pioneers in Reading, III: Dr. Paul Witty, 481.
Wheeler, Lester R.—A Modification of the Informal Reading Inventory, 224.
When Children Write About Their Problems—Margaret B. Parke, 35.
Why Not Teach Children Semantics?—Rodney W. Everhart, 548.
Why Tell Stories?—Phyllis Fenner, 155.
Windows on the World—Patrick D. Hazard, 45, 114, 183, 260, 331.
Windows on the World—Iris Vinton, 399, 564.
Winter, Clotilda—Interrelationships Among Language Variables in Children of the First and Second Grades, 108.
Witches Can Be Fun—Nadine A. Kolbe, 377.
Witty, Paul—An Analysis of Children's Compositions Written in Response to a Film, 158.
Witty, Paul—Creative Writing and Story Telling for Today's Schools, 138.
Witty, Paul—Language Development of an Exceptionally Gifted Pupil, The, 214.
Witty, Paul—Some Values of Creative Writing, 139.
Witty, Paul—Studies of TV—An Eighth Yearly Report, 536.
Wolfe, Don M.—The Heart of the Language Arts Program, 450.
Wolfe, Don M.—Self-expression, 450.
Womack, Thurston—Is English A Phonetic Language?, 386.
Wright, Shirley B.—Play Ball, 301.
Writing A Group Poem—Florence Lachman, 258.

Youssi, Myrtle R.—Role-Playing Reveals Language Levels, 388.